

Faculty Colloquium on Jesuit Education

Faculty selected their 8 favorite chapters in this new reader.

Two sessions each semester.

Faculty inviting colleagues to come and continue the conversation.

Introducing a book of resources on Jesuit Education.

Coordinated and sponsored by the Collaborative Ministry Office
A light reception will be served after this Colloquium.

Thursday, April 2, 2009

3:30 - 4:30 p.m. Irma's Bistro
Lower Becker Dining Hall

Focus:

Practical Applications for the Teacher

"The Heart of the Teacher: Identity and Integrity in Teaching"

-- Parker J. Palmer

Tim Cook

Department of Education

"Parker Palmer writes about teaching in terms of identity, integrity, and calling. Let's talk about how teaching at a Jesuit, Catholic university liberates us to explore and share the added faith dimension in our teaching and research and how it enriches us and our students."

"Liberating Students -- from Paris Hilton, Howard Stern and Jim Beam"

-- Richard J. Malloy, S.J.

Mike Cherney

Physics Department

"Richard Malloy, SJ discusses how we might seek to change college culture. His sometimes controversial suggestions grow out of addressing oppression and leading students to the "Joy of Liberation."